PROGRAM BASICS

Program Overview

Federal Work-Study (FWS) is a federally funded need-based financial aid program that allows students with financial need to earn FWS funds through employment with authorized FWS employers. The FWS program provides employers with vital student support assistance while providing students with valuable employment opportunities and income to use toward educational and living expenses incurred throughout the year. To be considered for FWS, undergraduate and graduate students must be enrolled at least half-time (unless they have FWS staff authorization), be classified as degree-seeking, and meet other criteria outlined in this handbook.

Students that participate have a wide range of career goals, majors, and backgrounds. They are able to develop professionally through on-campus employment opportunities that compliment students' class schedules. Students choose which jobs they want to apply for, and employers choose which students they want to hire. As long as they remain eligible for FWS, students may continue their employment with the same department or explore opportunities with other departments. Students may attempt to change employers at any time, but we encourage students to retain their placements for at least one semester.

Students participating in the FWS program may only have one FWS job on campus. Students may work up to 20 hours per week at that job when enrolled, and up to 40 hours per week during academic breaks when not enrolled. However, student FWS earnings cannot exceed their FWS award. An additional program benefit is that FWS earnings can be excluded when determining a student's financial need on the following year's financial aid application.

Types of FWS Employment

America Reads * America Counts Program: Through these programs, University of Maryland students provide math and reading tutoring to local elementary school students or assist with program administration. For more information, contact the America Reads * America Counts Office at 301-314-READ.

THE APPLICATION PROCESS

How to Apply for Federal Work-Study

Students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FWS office considers students for a FWS award if they demonstrate financial need, select the option on the FAFSA stating that they are interested in FWS, and file the FAFSA by the UMD priority deadline of January 1. The Office of Student Financial Aid (OSFA) awards FWS with other need-based aid through an automated packaging system. FWS funds are limited, and best consideration for the FWS award is given to students who submit the FAFSA by the UMD priority deadline. Therefore, not all eligible students will receive a FWS award. The FWS office continues to offer FWS awards throughout the academic year to eligible students on a case by case basis until available funds are exhausted. Also, due to the limitation of FWS funds and the fact that it is a need-based program, there is no guarantee that students receiving FWS in the current year will receive FWS in subsequent years. Non-participation does not negatively affect future consideration for a FWS award, with the exception of Maryland Pathways Work Grant recipients.

FWS Award Notification Process

The FWS award will appear as an offered award on the student's financial aid account through Testudo along with other financial aid awards (grants, scholarships, and loans). Students must then accept their award on Testudo. Graduate students are never automatically offered FWS and must submit an FWS appeal for consideration. Total aid can't exceed educational costs, and most graduate students prefer all loans and no FWS.

Note: While FWS appears on students' financial aid letters as an award, students must work to earn the funds. Students have no obligation to work (unless offered a Maryland Pathways Work Grant), but if they do not work they will not receive any FWS funds.

FWS Award Periods (Fall/Spring & Summer)

The FWS award period is the employment period in which students may earn their FWS award. The FWS award periods are listed on the FWS Work Authorization form and the FWS website under the 'Important Dates' section. A new FWS Work Authorization form is required for each FWS award period of employment.

Fall/Spring Award Period: Fall/Spring awards may be earned during fall, winter, and/or spring semesters. Any amount not earned during the fall semester is automatically available to be earned during the winter and spring semesters.

Winter break: Students are eligible to work up to 40 hours per week if not enrolled in classes. If enrolled full time, students may only work a maximum of 20 hours per week. If enrolled part time, students must request permission from the FWS office to work more than 20 hours per week while classes are in session. Students should bear in mind that any amount earned during the winter break will result in less available funds to earn during the spring semester.

Summer Award Period: A separate application and award process is used to determine summer FWS eligibility and awards. Students interested in a summer FWS award should contact the FWS office for more information. Students may not use unearned funds from their fall/spring FWS award for the summer. Any remaining unearned funds at the end of the award period (i.e. the end of the spring and summer semesters) are forfeited.

FWS Award Earning Limits & Enrollment Restrictions

Students must meet the enrollment criteria in order to earn their FWS award. Students may only earn FWS awards up to their award amount corresponding to the award period in which they are offered the FWS award.

Earning Limit: FWS is awarded for a limited, specific award period, and awards establish the maximum earnings per award period. Earnings per semester do NOT matter as long as total fall-spring earnings do not exceed fall-spring award. Similarly, summer earnings cannot exceed summer award. The FWS program office will send students notification of their award earning status once they have earned 65%, 80% and 100% of their award. Students that are running out of their award but would like to continue working should submit an FWS appeal for additional funding. Once the award period has ended or once a student has earned his/her award amount (whichever comes first), that student must stop earning FWS funds. Students may continue to work for the same department earning from non-FWS employer funds (at the discretion of the employer). Students may not begin to earn FWS funds again until awarded a new FWS award.

Enrollment Restrictions: In order to maintain FWS eligibility, students must maintain their half-time enrollment status. Additionally, students may not participate in FWS after graduating.

FWS Appeal Process

The Federal Work-Study (FWS) Appeal form should be completed and submitted to the FWS office for consideration of a new FWS award or for an increase to an existing FWS award. Any student not offered an FWS award who would like to participate in the program should submit an FWS appeal form. Graduate students are never automatically offered FWS, so any graduate student wishing to participate in FWS must submit an appeal form. Please note that offering an FWS award to a graduate student may involve changes in other financial aid awards. Therefore, the appeal form must be completed and signed by the student as part of the FWS appeal process.

Students seeking an increase in their current FWS award must have earned over 50% of their award amount before submitting an FWS appeal form. For example, a student with an $1800 award must earn $900 before submitting the FWS appeal form. The FWS appeal form is available on the Forms page of the Office of Student Financial Aid website. All appeal forms should be submitted via mail or fax to:

Federal Work-Study Program
University of Maryland
Mitchell Building
College Park, MD 20742
Fax: 301-314-9587

Students should be aware that submitting an appeal does not guarantee admittance into the program and/or any increase in their FWS award. The FWS office renders all decisions on a case by case basis, taking into consideration student eligibility, as determined by the federal formula which establishes the student's amount of financial need, as well as the availability of program funds. If funds are low, the FWS office will award returning employees first. Appeals that are not approved due to funding are kept on file so that they may be automatically reconsidered should funding become available. The FWS office is usually able to notify students of their appeal decisions within two weeks.

Finding FWS Employment

FWS participants must be employed with a FWS approved employer to earn from their FWS award. Below lists the available resources to the FWS job search.

FWS Jobs Web Page

The FWS Jobs web page is the primary resource where FWS approved employers can place job announcements. Students should review all approved and open jobs on this page. Not all campus departments are eligible to hire FWS students.

Job Fairs

The University Career Center and the President's Promise hosts two job fairs related to work-study: the September Part-Time Job Fair and the December Holiday Employment and Spring Job Fair. Attendance at these fairs is optional. Business attire is not necessary, but it is helpful to bring resumes.

FWS Staff Referrals

If students search the FWS job listings and contact various departments and are still in need of a job, they may call the FWS office at 301-314-8377 to schedule an appointment or email FWS-admin@umd.edu to meet with FWS Staff for personal assistance in selecting a FWS job.

Approaching the Job Search

The FWS office recommends that students search for jobs that most interest them and choose no more than five jobs listings during each search. Students may only hold one FWS job position at a time. Students should contact employers as directed on the web listings and submit a cover letter and resume and ask for a formal interview time and date. Students are also recommended to inform employers that they are a FWS participant and the amount of the FWS award.

FWS Student Interviews

When offered an interview, students should note the date, time, location, name of the person with whom they will be meeting, any required documents (i.e. resume, class schedule), and a contact name and phone number in case the student is unable to attend the scheduled interview. FWS student interviews should always be taken seriously and be handled professionally. During the interviews, students and employers should discuss job duties pertaining to each position, days and hours needed to work, as well as the educational and professional development opportunities available. It is important to recognize that the interview is an occasion to impress the employer on student skills and ability! For additional tips on how to build a resume, interview, etc, please visit the University Career Center and the President's Promises at <http://careercenter.umd.edu>.

It is important that students bring the following documents to their interviews:

- FWS Work Authorization form
- Copy of Financial Aid Awards page (used to verify the official FWS award, acceptance and amount)
- Proof of citizenship documents (must bring the actual document, not a photocopy):
 - Driver's license, Social Security Card, U.S. Passport, U.S. Permanent Residency Card (UMD ID does not qualify)
 - Students may contact the employer for other acceptable documents
- Copy of class schedule
- Available work schedule
- Decide how many tax deductions will be chosen on the IRS W-4 form

- Résumé and list of references (optional, but recommended)

FWS Work Authorization form

The completed FWS Work Authorization form legitimizes the student's FWS earnings. Both the student and supervisor should complete the form and keep a copy for their records. The student/employer must return the original form to the FWS office before the student begins employment. The FWS Work Authorization form is printable on Testudo from the student's financial aid account under the To Do page. Also, the Work Authorization form can be found on the Forms page of the Office of Student Financial aid website. Both the student and supervisor must complete the form and return the original to the FWS office before the student begins employment.

Note: Students and employers must notify the FWS office of any change in employment status, including change in department, position, or hourly wage. Failure to do so may cause payroll problems or result in cancellation of the student's FWS award.

Financial Aid Award Page

The financial aid award page is used to verify the student's FWS award and must be presented to the employer before the student can be hired. The student should print the financial aid award page from the Financial Aid Offer section of their Financial Aid Portal.

FWS Work Authorization Verification Process

FWS awards are verified each pay period via the FWS WOW report. Students that have earnings but do not have a Work Authorization form on file risk FWS award cancellation. Students are notified regarding their missing Work Authorization form and given a one (1) week grace period to avoid cancellation of the FWS award.

Accepting/Declining a Job

FWS students should officially decline or accept all job offers with the FWS Employer. Once a student accepts a job, the student must complete the FWS Work Authorization form and complete the necessary payroll documents to get set up in the University Payroll and Human Resources (PHR) system in order to begin work.

WORKING AN FWS JOB

Starting Employment & Establishing a Work Schedule

Students must give their employer an official copy of their course schedule (from Testudo). Students and their employer should create a mutually agreeable work schedule that accommodates academic requirements and class schedule. Students may NEVER work during scheduled class times.

When creating work schedules, students and employers are advised to consider:

- Student's course schedule
- Academic requirements and exam schedules
- Attendance during scheduled holidays and breaks

- Student's FWS award amount and hourly wage

Students may continue working until the end of their authorized period of employment, until graduation, or until their FWS award runs out, whichever comes first. Students may not, under any circumstance, continue to work at an FWS job after their authorized period of employment has ended, after graduation, or after depletion of their FWS award. It is the responsibility of the student and the employer to monitor earnings to be certain this does not happen.

Work Hour Guidelines

While school is in session, students may only work a maximum of 20 hours per week. During academic and summer vacations, students may work up to 40 hours per week if not enrolled in classes. There are no exceptions to this rule. Students may never work more than 40 hours per week, and no overtime may be paid to FWS student employees.

Work Expectations

Students should be aware of their work expectations and adhere to their employer's office conduct guidelines, rules for attendance, and tasks & responsibilities. Employers need reliable workers. It is the expectation that students will be professional and follow their pre-established schedules and will contact employers in advance if they will be late or if they will be unable to work their entire shift. Additionally, it is the expectation that students will be on task and perform work-related duties while at work.

Breaks

While there is no law, regulation, or campus policy that requires employers to give students a break, the Department of Education requires that the FWS Program have a policy in place. Therefore, it is the policy of the FWS Program that a paid fifteen-minute break is allowed for every continuous 4 hours worked. Breaks are not provided for periods of less than 4 hours. Breaks cannot be used to arrive late or leave early. A 30-minute unpaid meal break must be taken for shifts of 8 hours or more, although employers can require a 30 minute break after 5 hours of consecutive work.

Earning your FWS Award

FWS earnings are not credited to a student's billing account, but are paid directly to the student. All FWS participants earn money from their FWS award through State of Maryland paychecks issued bi-weekly according to the UM payroll schedule. All paychecks are based on an hourly wage and include only hours worked. Earnings are FICA exempt (for students who are at least half time), but are also subject to all applicable federal, state, and local taxes. Since earnings are taxable, students will receive W2's at the end of the year. For additional tax filing information, go to www.irs.gov or consult a tax advisor.

Paychecks may be directly deposited into a bank account, and in some instances mailed, per student request. Contact your employer's payroll officer for more information.

Earnings Fraud

Students may only be paid for hours worked. If any student intentionally submits fraudulent time cards or time sheets to their employer, the FWS office will notify the UM Judicial Affairs office.

One FWS Job Policy

To encourage academic success, students participating in the FWS program may only hold one FWS position and may only work up to 20 hours per week. Students are not permitted to work during scheduled class time. Also, we encourage students to budget the scheduled work hours with the amount of the FWS award and academic commitments. FWS students found to be working more than one FWS position will be notified and may be dismissed from the FWS program.

Resignation/Termination

While a student may discontinue employment at any time without penalty, a minimum of two weeks' notice is requested when resigning from any UM FWS position. FWS jobs should be treated like any other non-FWS job. Students should submit a notice of resignation in writing directly to their supervisor, and include a specified final date of employment. If a student switches employers during the FWS award period, that student must immediately notify the FWS office by submitting a new FWS Work Authorization form. That student must also speak with the employer's payroll person to be sure that FWS earnings with the two employers do not overlap.

Inclement Weather and Other Emergency Conditions

In an emergency, the campus or a portion of the campus may be closed from normal business operations, either prior to or during a work shift. If this should occur, appropriate announcements will be made through the various news media.

Canceling classes or closing state buildings does not necessarily mean that the campus will be closed for normal operations. You are expected to report to work and to remain as scheduled, unless you are advised to the contrary. Students should consult their supervisor regarding any specific inclement weather and emergency conditions procedures for their departments. In the event of inclement weather or other emergency conditions, students may contact the University of Maryland's Information Line at (301) 405-1000 for recorded updates on University closing.

Students should be aware that they will NOT be paid for hours not worked because the University is closed, even if they were scheduled to work that day.

PAYROLL POLICIES & PROCEDURES

Students should contact their employer's payroll administrator to find out which forms and identifications are required BEFORE beginning employment.

Payroll Procedures

Students must record work hours online through the University Payroll & Human Resources (PHR) website: <http://ares.umd.edu/phr/>. Students should expect to receive their first paycheck approximately 4 weeks after their initial start date. The paycheck will be issued by the employer, and direct deposit is highly recommended. Paychecks are administered one pay period behind the University's Payroll Schedule. Refer to the FWS Payment Tracking sheet to help monitor earnings. Students can spend their earnings however they want- on personal and/or school expenses. For payroll related questions, students should speak with their FWS supervisor or their department's payroll person.

FWS Job Classification & Pay Wage Guidelines

In accordance with FWS program regulations, all employers must establish a job description, job classification level, and pay rate for each FWS position offered. While employers may determine the specific job title and duties for each position offered, all FWS positions must be classified in accordance with the FWS Job Classification and Pay Wage Guidelines.

These guidelines are intended to ensure pay equity among all and should be used to establish hourly wages comparable to all other FWS and non-FWS students employed by the hiring department.

While the OSFA requires compliance with these guidelines, federal regulations require only that students be paid at least the state minimum wage of $10.10 per hour. Pay rates may, in certain instances, exceed these guidelines if requested by the employer and approved by the FWS Coordinator.

Pay Wage Increases

Employers are encouraged to review student employees for pay rate increases at the conclusion of each year of employment. Employers may, however, offer pay rate increases to their student employees at any time during the academic year, as is deemed appropriate in accordance with the FWS Program Classification and Pay Wage Guidelines. While increases may be offered at the discretion of the employing department, standard increases may be offered based on the following criteria:

- Promotion to higher level position with related increase in job duties and/or complexity of work
- Longevity/length of employment
- Additional skills, education, and/or experience gained in the prior term of employment
- Positive performance evaluation for the prior term of employment

Many students feel they are eligible for an increase in pay once they receive an increase in their FWS awards. However, FWS jobs function in the same way as other non-FWS jobs. Pay rate increases should be given on a merit basis, not due to an increase in funds. When a student receives an award increase this does not mean he/she should receive a wage increase to help him/her earn the entire award. FWS awards are increased in order to allow students to work for a longer period of time in their employment department rather than having them leave their positions due to lack of funds.

Undergraduate Employment Classifications

Note: If a FWS employer chooses to pay an undergraduate student employee $11.00 or more per hour, the department must submit a Student Wage Exception Form to Campus Payroll.

TAXATION/BENEFITS FOR FWS STUDENTS

Federal, State, and Local Taxes

All wages paid to FWS and non-FWS student employees are subject to withholding of federal, state, and local income taxes unless the student qualifies for exemption.

Unemployment Compensation

FWS student employees are not entitled to Unemployment Compensation through the University of Maryland.

FICA (Social Security Taxes)

Recently, the IRS revised the regulations that governed the exemption from Social Security and Medicare taxes (FICA) for students enrolled in colleges and universities. With the beginning of the Spring 1998 Semester, student employees will be exempt from FICA taxes if they are enrolled at least half-time regardless of the number of hours they may work.

1. A student employee is exempt from FICA taxation if s/he is enrolled at least half-time. Any undergraduate who enrolls for at least six credit hours for the spring and fall semesters will be considered enrolled as a half-time student for FICA purposes. During the summer sessions, undergraduates must be enrolled for at least three credit hours for each session to be considered half-time.
2. In the spring and fall semesters, graduate students will be considered half-time if they are enrolled for at least 24 graduate units. During the summer sessions, graduate students must be enrolled for at least 12 graduate units for each session.
3. A student employee will be considered enrolled half-time even if the person is enrolled for less than half-time, providing the student meets the following requirements:
 - a. Student is taking classes in the last semester of a degree or certificate program that requires at least two semesters
 - b. Student will complete the requirements for the degree or certificate in that semester.
4. Verification of enrollment status must be done twice during the semester. The first time must be at the end of the add/drop period and the second time may be done at the University's discretion, but prior to the end of the semester.
5. Student employees may work any number of hours (within FWS regulations) without becoming eligible for FICA taxation.
6. Student employees will continue to be exempt from FICA taxation for services performed during the winter break providing the student was exempt on the last day of the fall semester and is eligible to enroll for the spring semester.
7. Student employees are exempt from FICA taxation for work performed during any period that partially falls within the academic year.
8. Student employees must be working in a student position and not a career position as defined by the IRS. A career position is more narrowly defined as one that is eligible to participate in the University's retirement plans.
9. These revisions do not apply to postdoctoral students, postdoctoral fellows, medical residents or medical interns.

Worker's Compensation

Any student employed at the University of Maryland is eligible for Worker's Compensation in the event that s/he experiences a work-related injury. Whenever an employee is injured on the job, the employee should report the injury to his/her supervisor as soon as possible. The supervisor should contact the Injured Workers Insurance Fund to file a "First Report of Injury"; s/he should also file a copy with the Occupational Health Unit on campus. While student employees are not eligible for all benefits offered to full-time State employees, they are eligible for the following Worker's Compensation insurance benefits:

1. Medical Coverage - Any medical bills for treatment, therapy, or prescriptions resulting from a work related injury are covered. Any bills should be forwarded to the Occupational Health Unit on campus.
2. Lost Wages - Student employees are eligible to receive compensation for wages lost as a result of the injury. The first three days of absence due to injury are unpaid, but after the third day of absence, the employee will receive "Temporary Total Benefits", which compensation is based on his/her average number of hours worked. If the employee misses more than two weeks of work, the first three days will also be paid. Temporary Total Benefits are paid at 2/3 of the employee's regular salary, but they are not taxed, so compensation is very similar to actual wages. To receive compensation, a claim must be filed with Workers Compensation; students can obtain claim forms from the Occupational Health Unit if they are not available from the employee's supervisor or department payroll coordinator.
3. Time Limits - A claim for Worker's Compensation benefits can be filed up to two years after the injury. It is important that a First Report of Injury is filed at the time of the incident. Failure to report an injury promptly may lead to questions about the validity of the claim, and could result in a denial of a claim for benefits later.
